CONVICT-MADE GOODS BILL REPORTED IN HOUSE

ARTICLES SHIPPED MUST CON-FORM TO STATE OF ENTRY.

CONDITIONS BARED

The Indianapolis News Bureau, 33 Wyatt Building WASHINGTON, March 17 .- A favorable eport by the house committee on labor on Representative Booher's bill, would cause convict-made goods to be subject to the laws of the state into which the goods may be shipped, has paved the way for the starting anew of the old discussion regarding convict-made goods. This bill is an effort to get around the interstate clause in the Constitution under which it has been held that goods made by convicts in a state where convict labor- is employed may be shipped to and sold in any other state, even if the latter state prohibits the manufacture or sale of goods made by convicts within its own boundaries.

In other words, the bill provides that if goods made, for instance, at the Michigan City prison, in Indiana, be shipped to Minnesota, which has strict laws regarding the sale of convict-made goods, the goods which were shipped from Indiana would have to be sold in Minnesota in conformity with the law of Minnesota. goods. This bill is an effort to get around

Only One Reported Favorably. There are several bills in the congress elating to convict-made goods. Several of these are in the senate, where a strong effort is being made to pass them. Of the whole number introduced, however, only one, the Booher bill, in the house, has been reported favorably by commit-has been reported favorably by committee.

F. Emory Lyon, superintendent of the Central Howard Association, with headquarters at Chicago, has written a letter to Senator Gronna in regard to the bills pending, in which he points out the dangers of passing any of the bills now under consideration. The Central Howard Association, it might be said, exists for the purpose of aiding released convicts, and, since it was started several years ago, has dealt with the cases of more than 13,000 such persons. The object of the association is to obtain positions for released convicts and to aid them to get a start in life after they leave prison.

Would Prove a Curse.

Would Prove a Curse. Lyon believes that further restrictive legislation as applied to prison industries would prove a curse rather than dustries would prove a curse rather than a blessing, unless some provision is made for the employment of the prisoners. This provision, Mr. Lyon declares, is not made in any of the bills now before the congress. Mr. Lyon then points out what he terms "the unsatisfactory conditions with reference to the prison industries in the various states."

"Under present conditions in most prisons," Mr. Lyon writes, "the hard labor part of the sentence is a travesty. Scarcely any prison in the country has sufficient employment for its inmates, owing to the restrictive measures already imposed in the change from the private-contract labor systems to various forms of state industry. My position as between various forms of prison labor is entirely neutral. My principal desire is that men should have work, and, so far as possible, they should be taught trades, not only for their own sake but for the future.

"In Missouri we learn of 800 men sit-Veterans, United Spanish War Veterans ting in their cells day and night, losand the auxiliaries of the three organiza- ing their minds and their health. In Ohio one sees 400 men sitting in the 'idle prisoners in Iowa, and other states also, are learning the lesson of idleness, in spite of their sentence to 'hard labor,' white the officials are striving strenuously to meet the emergency, under the limitations of the law, to find a way to keep men out of mischief by legitimate occupation."

Mr. Lyon says the situation would not be so serious if it marked in transition from one system to another. This is not the case, he says, as all the efforts that have been made so far to limit prison industries and at the same time to keep the inmates of the prison busy, have failed. New York and Pennsylvania, he points out as conspicuous examples of the failure to devise an adequate system of limiting prison labor.

Must Produce Good Citizens, "If reformatories are to reform," Mr. Lyon says, "they, too, must be profitable, not necessarily in dollars, but in pro ducing good citizens by process of education and trade training. I believe that unfold harm is bound to come from the continued idleness in most of our prisons. It is sure to result in an increase in crime

It is sure to result in an increase in crime in the future."
"Surely the brains of America should be able to solve the prison labor problem," Mr. Lyon writes. "That it has not done so, is due to public indifference, political corruption, and the need of more men of business ability, as well as humanity and vision, to administer all penal institutions efficiently, as a few are now being conducted."

Physicians Fear Life of Lawrenceville Woman Can Not Be Saved.

[Special to The Indianapolis News]
VINCENNES, Ind., March 17.—Physicians are preparing to begin at once a series of operations for skin-grafting as a last effort to save the life of Mrs. Thomas Owen, at Lawrenceville, where she is in a hospital, in a critical condition, from burns suffered several days ago. More than two square feet of skin surface is to be treated, physicians said, and nearly 2,000 small pleces of skin will be needed to complete the operations. It is very uncertain, the physicians say, that Mrs. Owen's life can be saved.
